"Our Year Unfolds"

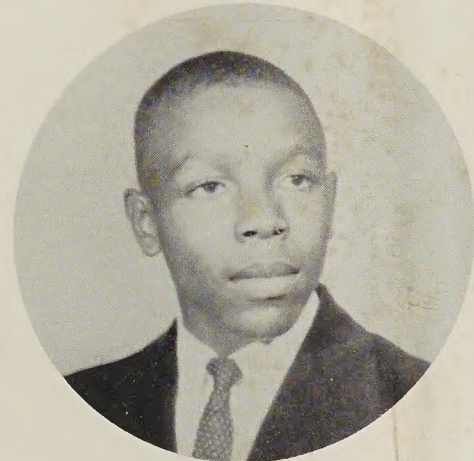

Foreword

With our school year coming to an end, we pause to look back upon the friends and happiness we have had. The past four years have been filled with many experiences which we will never forget - the joys, the sorrows, the fun and the hard work.

In making the 1960 Hawk, it was our intention to put at your fingertips many happy memories of a wonderful year.

We proudly present the 1960 Hawk to the student body of JCTS.

This Is Our School!

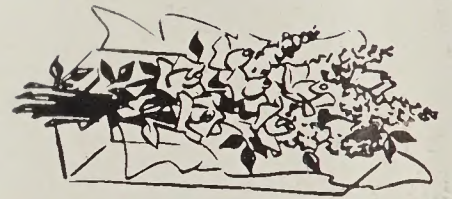

Johnston County Training School

Smithfield, North Carolina

Of all the schools in this broad land
There's none so fair as ours
Forever true we'll always stand
Our spirits soaring as a tower
Our dear old Training School.

Her lessons, flowers we shall wear
Our lives a pattern weave
Her precepts we shall always bear
And to this spot we'll always cleave
Our dear old Training School
Our dear old Training School.

Greetings, Class of '60:

No period in the development of youth has greater significance than the four years spent by you in high school, and a most thrilling experience for you, is the hour of your completion of the secondary school program, crowned with graduation.

Since this period is so important, teachers, parents and patrons must be ever mindful of the aspirations of your group for advancement and adjustment to society. Every effort should be made to focus attention on the urgent need of continual training, in order that you may fit more productively in society with its increasingly complex problems.

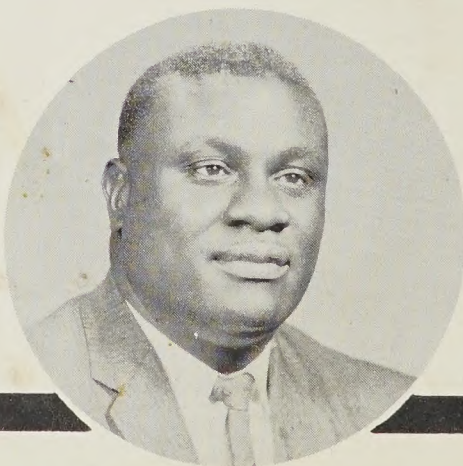

As seniors and prospective graduates, you are to be congratulated on your achievements to date, and I do hope that you will find a way to continue your formal academic training. You owe yourself no greater debt.

Sincerely,

CLASS POEM

- I. Too soon we must depart
From the things so dear to the heart
The school, the teachers, and the friends;
For whom our love will never end.
- II. The kind-hearted people who gave so much
That we might acquire this common touch
Mr. Collins and parents we won't forget
For without your help, we'd be lost yet.
- III. Four short years we've struggled hard
We've mixed our seeds with good and bad soil
What lies ahead? We do not know -
But toward it we now shall go.
- IV. Yes, dear training school, we do love you so dear
And hate to leave you, our love one's here
But even though we must depart
This, our home, will forever live within our hearts.

CLASS SONG Tune: "How Great Thou Art"

1. Dear Training School, with painful hearts we leave you.
Consider all the work that we have done.
We've set our goal, now we must strive to reach it -
Our hearts throughout the years have been as one.
2. To our schoolmates we wish you much suc-cess
At our beloved dear ole J.C.T.S.
We hate to leave but this we do believe,
That we will meet again somewhere, sometimes.

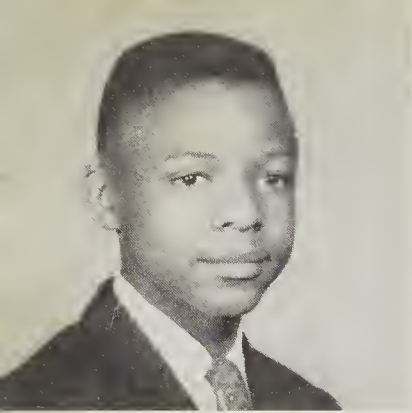

Chorus

Refrain -
To our principal, parents and teachers, too.
How great we are, How great we are -
To our principal, parents and teachers, too.
How great we are, How great we are.

Class History

In the year of 1956 A.D., a group of adventurous pioneers started across a vast unknown territory to stake their claims in the gold mines of education. It was known that gold had been discovered in the territory of J.C.T.S.

Thousands of hopeful explorers had been there. Sure enough the mines were so rich there was gold for all, and those who worked diligently and reached the last outpost where the richest mines were located had become increasingly wealthy. With these thoughts in mind, we started to seek our fortunes. Mr. Lacewell, Mr. Avery, Mr. Baldwin and Mr. McNeil, eighth grade sponsors, were appointed guides for our journey across the plains.

One hundred twenty-six of us packed our goods in buggies and started the journey. In 1957, we arrived safely at our first stop "Freshmanboro." Constantly in search of larger and richer mines. Here Christabelle Watson was elected president; Mullinda Rodgers, vice president; Emma Nixon, secretary; and Belinda Carroll, assistant secretary. Christabelle Watson had the honor of being Miss Johnston County Training School. Some of us being satisfied at having reached Freshmenboro stayed there, but the majority of us were safely guided to "Sophomoreville" by our efficient guides - Miss Howell, Mrs. Dublin, Mrs. Brame and Mr. Ennis. Here Myrtle Bell Lee was elected president; Jarvis Rodgers, vice president; Emma Nixon, secretary; Christabelle Watson, assistant secretary. Rosalene Sanders won the honor of being "Miss Sweetheart." We collected many nuggets in Sophomoreville, but realized that each mile covered proved more profitable than the last. So we journeyed to "Junior Town." By this time we were well known around J.C.T.S. Territory. Here Jarvis Rodgers was president; Larry Cogdell, vice president; Christabelle Watson, secretary; Emma Nixon, assistant secretary. Our guides were, Mrs. Dublin, Mrs. Whitakers, and Miss Howell. Soisette Dublin represented us as being "Miss Johnston County Training School." Carolyn Everette, vice president of the Student Council; Emma Nixon, secretary.

Our Junior and Senior Prom was a wonderful affair. Our theme "An Evening in Outer Space" is one to be remembered, because we really enjoyed that evening in "Space."

Donnie Jones, Rosalene Sanders, Mullinda Rodgers, Claudia Peacock, Geneva Bennett, Christabelle Watson, John Mitchell, Larry Cogdell, Carolyn Everette, Belinda Carroll, and Emma Nixon were inducted into the Johnston County Training School chapter of the National Honor Society under the sponsorship of Mrs. C. G. Ennis.

Claudia Peacock and Geneva Bennett were honorary marshals to the graduating class of 1959.

Mrs. Dublin, Mrs. Whitaker and Miss Howell safely guided us to "Senior City." Oh! what a beautiful city. It had been a long and weary journey and we were really elated at having reached the last outpost. Miss A. E. Williams and Mr. T. J. Dublin, our senior guides, opened the gates to the city for us. With their encouragement, we started to work with Larry Cogdell as president; Geneva Bennett, vice president; Emma Nixon, secretary; Christabelle Watson, assistant secretary; and Belinda Carroll as treasurer.

We sponsored many activities during our senior year, but there is one we must long remember - "THE SENIOR BALL." This affair was held in the J.C.T.S. Gymnasium, Friday Evening, January 8, 1960 at 8 P. M. Jere Annie Merel Atkinson was crowned queen by our principal, Mr. W. R. Collins. Mr. Senior was also crowned by our principal. Larry Joe Cogdell took the honor.

During our journey across the plains, we've been one large happy family and have accomplished many nuggets, because we realize the fact, "Where there's unity, there's strength." We will always bear in mind our motto, "TOTAL ACCOMPLISHMENT IS OUR AIM, WE WILL STOP AT NOTHING LESS."

Class Prophecy

SCENE: OUTER SPACE

After having been told that my vacation would be late coming up, I decided that after ten years, it was time that I went back home and visit my old classmates who live on the planets. Not that traveling around isn't fun and interesting, but I do get a yearn to land sometimes. So I refueled my all-modern space ship and set my course for planet "Mercury." Knowing that I would be tired when I arrived, I had planned to take two or three hours to rest, however, when I stepped out of my rocket ship "Nick," I got into the car I ordered before I reached the planet "Mercury." I drive off the landing field by way of the hospital. What should I see on the top of the building - Jones Hospital. I decided that I would return later to tour the building when my classmate, Frank Nixon, came out of the building. We had a short talkative and inquisitive reunion during which he informed me that he was head of the Dental Department there. He also said that William George was his assistant and Donnie Jones was doing excellent work as Surgeon. Of course, Jones is owner of the hospital.

Having been overjoyed at the good fortune of my former classmates, I drove into the city to the hotel Marstown where I had made reservations previously. The "Mars" atmosphere agreed with me very much that night because I slept soundly and was wonderfully refreshed the next morning.

I arose from bed at twelve o'clock after having lunch in bed. I planned my activities for the day. Since I had gotten word that I should stop on "Mercury" Ave. for a great surprise, I decided to do just that. I saw a modern beauty salon. I parked my planet mobile and went in for a new hair style and facial. Was I shocked when I saw on a sign that Shirley Eason was proprietor and Sofronia Holder was working there along with four others whom I didn't know. I must say the ladies looked very lovely when they walked out of the beauty salon. The work done on me at the salon made me feel even better than the good night's sleep. I returned to my mobile to look for another classmate before I took off to the next planet, "Venus." I drove out about ten miles east of town and there I saw an airport. Who do you think owned and operated it? Can you imagine - George Penny. He told me that after coming out of the air force, he opened the airport for charter service and that he is gradually increasing the size of his organization. The thrill that I received at having seen the success of my ole friends who were here on "Mercury" made my trip worthwhile. So that very night, I went back to my space ship "Nick" and took off for planet "Earth."

I arrived at "Earth" early the next morning and this time I went to the home of my parents. I was very glad to see them and they were happy to see me. I surprised them, because they did not know I was coming home. Naturally we had to chat for a few minutes. We soon went to bed as it was very early in the morning. This time I really slept since I was in a very familiar place. I awakened that day at nine o'clock. The many conveniences of my space ship allowed me to sleep and rest during my journey to earth. I ate breakfast and later decided to go out and look some of my classmates up. I thought a group of them would likely to be found at my high school Alma Mater. There I found several classmates. Among the faculty, I recognized Carolyn Everette, Landy Holley, David Leanard, Myrtle Bell Lee, Ernestine McNeil, Claudia Peacock, Mullinda Rodgers, Joseph Patterson, Bettie M. Sanders, and Jarvis Rodgers. My visit with these ole friends told me that our class was quite a progressive one. While driving from the school going back home, I noticed a building that seemed to be newly constructed. I stopped my car and got out so that I could look around just in case some classmates owned it and sure enough, Luther Smith owned this Barber Shop, and that Jean Watson, Willie Sanders, along with some more barbers whom I didn't know, were working for him. Luther explained that he had been quite successful in his barbering and had decided to build a new and modernistic barber shop. From Luther, I learned that Kirby Simms was very successful as a business man and that his offices were right over on Blount Street. I rode over to see Kirby. When I entered the outer office there were several desks at which sat many typists. They directed me to the secretary and to my surprise, she was none other than Annie M. Atkinson. From the greeting, I learned that Sarah Watson was Kirby's private secretary and had gone out of town on business for him.

These classmates of mine who remained on earth seemed to have really known the formula for success and it really paid off. This time, I decided to head for Mars, the planet people were little less than optimistic about that particular planet. But time has proven that it is some place to live, so I proceeded once more to visit another planet and learn more about what happened to some of the Class of '60. This time I used my space ship for resting, eating, sleeping and dressing because my vacation was only for a limited time. After I had driven into town, I saw a secretarial agency and I was positively thrilled when I saw that Annie R. Watson was the head of this agency. She told me that Rebecca Sanders, Lois Thomas, Hettie Williams and Pearline Fowler were holding down good secretarial positions around town.

Next, I visited the hospital because I knew that at least one of my classmates, Rosalene Sanders, was head nurse. All a sudden, I was in for a big surprise though, because I found that Rosa Nell Williams, Madgalene Hemingway, Margaret Curtis and Katie Harris were also registered nurses there. Having been asked if I had seen Earl Sanders, I said no. I was told to go over to the theater. As I looked on the billboard I saw his picture. I further read that he was starring in a new version of "Porgy and Bess." My classmates here on "Mars" had really made a life for themselves. Everyone seemed to be happy with his job, and that's what counts. The next planet I visited was "Saturn." One of the most beautiful planets in the solar system.

I arrived on "Saturn" three days later. It took some time to make this trip because I just had to see all those beautiful sights around that planet. I decided not to leave my space ship, but just remain in it and use once again the many conveniences of my ship. The afternoon after I arrived I wanted to hear some good music so I went into town and bought a paper so that I could see what was happening in town that night. The first thing I saw after opening the paper was that the Williams, Bryant and Williams Combo would be playing and that this was the last night. I went back to my ship and dressed for the occasion. I was so surprised when I saw that the names mentioned in the paper belonged to none other than Donawade Williams, Albert Bryant and Harold Williams. They gave an intriguing performance and I thoroughly enjoyed it.

I returned to my space ship later and slept through the night. I awakened at ten o'clock the next morning and went over to the Saturnville High School. There I saw Delores Sanders, Daniel Lionel Sanders and Norvell Williams. They were teaching there. Alice Ballard was the school secretary and Vernis Allen was the school nurse. I left the school and drove out into the country. There I saw another school. Hillside High School. These classmates of mine who were teaching there were Alice Eason and Robert Avery. Myrtle Chrisp was the school nurse.

Driving back to my space ship, I passed a building which I thought was being constructed very beautifully. I drove my car to the side of the road and went up to the building for a closer look. I was startled when someone called my name. I turned and standing beside me was Roy Dublin. He was laying brick for this fabulous home. A greater thrill came when he called Eugene Coley, Robert Brunson, Samuel Leach and Edward Sanders and told me that these bricklayers also were my classmates.

I landed on Neptune quite awhile later and went to the home of some friends of my parents who moved there from earth. They informed me that Tuneville was quite a busy place. I had no idea that I would soon find out how busy. It started when I returned to my space ship to get an article or two that I had forgotten. When I'd gotten inside my ship, the radio was damaged. Someone had entered my ship for some reason. I was anxious to find out why so I called my friends with whom I was staying and they came over to the landing field. They gave me the name of a detective whom they said was superb. I called the detective and he promised that he would be over in ten minutes. Ten minutes later the detective was there and I could hardly believe my eyes when I saw that he was William Evans. He assured me that this was nothing to be alarmed about and promised that the case would be solved by the time I was ready to leave the planet. So I went back to my friend's home to enjoy the rest of my stay on "Neptune."

Later that day, I went out to find some of my classmates. As I walked along one of the beautiful avenues, I came to a stop in front of a very pretty building with a front glass. There were pictures in this window of buildings of many types which had been built by that company. When I turned to leave, who should walk out the door but Paul Clark. He told me that he was the engineer for that company. After a long chat with Paul, I walked further down the street and the name on a window caught my eye. The name read "Troy's Radio and Televison Store." So I went in and sure enough, there was Troy Dublin sitting at the desk in his office. Troy told me that there were some pictures on display at the Museum and that if I came along, I might recognize some of the artists names. So I did. I saw several masterpieces and each one of the following classmates had one: Belinda Carroll, Annie Mearl Williams, John Mitchell and John Rowland. That night, Troy told me that Christabelle and Clementine Watson were teaching at their high school. He also mentioned that the day before my arrival, Nancy Bunch has presented her fabulous dance group in a Matinee. Being very tired when I returned to the home of my friends, I slept like a baby once I got in bed. The next day I went back to my space ship. There I found my bill from the detective which I promptly mailed. As I was about to take off, I found the mechanic's bill and who do you think the mechanic was? Mack Lassiter. So I went out and mailed his fee to him. Then I was off to "Pluto."

I had only a short time to stay on planet "Pluto" since I had taken up so much time on the other planets. I did get a chance to talk to Rufus Bell who was a research chemist at Pluto Laboratories. I told him that I wanted a good picture of myself to take back home with me. He gave me a photographer's address and told me not to be surprised when I got there. When I arrived at the studio, I was greeted by a pretty young lady who told me that the photographer would see me in a few minutes. As I walked into the next room, Samuel Reddick let out with a big hello. I could not help but be surprised, and he made a marvelous picture of me. When I told him that I admired the beautiful draperies in his studio, he said that Mattie Smith was a very competent seamstress and had done all the work on them.

That night, I had nothing to do so I picked up a newspaper and right on the front page there was a picture of James Lewis, who had become a great lecturer. I went to hear him lecture and the points that he brought out were amazing. I just had to congratulate him.

This concluded my travel for this vacation period and all my classmates have proven to be very aggressive. They have used their abilities and opportunities to get ahead. They are all well on the road to success.
